What is Adderall 10mg?

Adderall is a prescription drug that comes in numerous strengths. The lowest strength is Adderall 5mg whereas the highest strength of Adderall is 30mg. The primary function of all the strengths is the same but the mechanism rate varies! The difference in the mechanism rate is due to the existence of the active element in the different ratios. The active elements of this medication are known as amphetamine and dextroamphetamine.

The doctor usually asks the sufferer to initiate the treatment with the lowest strength such as adder all 10mg and 5mg. However, if you are familiar with the stimulants the doctor may ask you to begin the treatment with a high dose of Adderall. In case if you commence the treatment with the high dose without being familiar, you are prone to meet the adder of all withdrawals.
