

About Us

Are you looking for Drug Rehab in Austin? We're here to help you find your way back to living a healthy, happy life. We know that addiction is a serious issue, and it's essential that you or your loved one receive the best possible treatment. That's why we created The Last Resort Recovery Center, a men's rehab program focused on providing an individualized experience for our clients. Our clients have unique needs—we address those needs with personalized treatment plans, evidence-based modalities, and an equestrian expertise that no other rehab offers. At The Last Resort Recovery Center, we know the importance of creating an individualized experience for the men we treat. Men dealing with alcohol or drug dependency have unique issues that are best treated in a particular setting. They experience different triggers throughout life depending on their age. A men's rehab program and support system created to specifically address these issues can make a difference in your or your loved one's success in treatment.
